THURSDAY MORNING, APRIL 20, 1865.

Peace at Hand.

On every side there are indications of a speedy peace. It had long been evident that when Richmond should fall, and when Lee's army, constituting the head and front of the rebellion, should be overcome and lost to the rebel cause, peace would shortly thereafter be consummated. Experience not less than reason, shows that when a community is powerless to make any further resistance, it accepts the necessity of its situation and if liberal terms are granted it, yields a ready compliance to all laws and requirements that are binding both upon its opponents and its own people. Equality between the conquered and their conquerors cannot fail to preserve peace. The sudden ebullitions of rage and resentment that have occurred among conquered peoples, have had their origin in the fact that those who have been subdued have usually been compelled to live on unequal terms with the victors, and accept an inferior condition as the proper lot of the vanquished. It is expected that the masses of the Southern people, notwithstanding their defection to their lawful Government, will be permitted to resume the exercise of their political rights on the restoration of peace. Hence they can now have no appreciable motive for persisting further in their hopeless opposition to rightful authority. Those views, taken in connection with the fact that their military power is now hopelessly lost, justify the belief that peace is very near.

We believe that the people of the South will now abandon the leaders by whom they have been misguided, and consult their own safety and advantage by returning to the performance of the duties of citizens. Concerning the men who were the prime movers in this great plot, and who have from the first led the rebellion, the Government will decide what to do, should they fall into its hands. Loyal people will demand that they be dealt with justly, and that they shall find no extenuation in the magnitude of their crime.

The rebels have now no longer even the semblance of an army. The only remaining force that could be dignified by the name, has surrendered to Sherman. Their cause depended wholly on their military strength, and this is effectually destroyed.

Had not the rebellion in the blindness of its mad hate procured the assassination of our lamented President, it could possibly have expected our Government to make conciliatory advances toward peace. It is barely possible that under his generous administration the rebel leaders might even have obtained impunity for what they had done. But patriots can now no longer be magnanimous toward so fiendish a foe. The policy of President Johnson will meet the hearty concurrence of all loyal men. While he would deal mildly with the Southern people, provided they are honestly disposed to return to their allegiance, he can promise no favor to the leaders in this hideous crime. We regard peace impossible while these arch-traitors are permitted to cumber the world with their presence. When they are removed, peace and quiet will be fully restored.

State Items.—A suit has been commenced on the part of the State against Linn county for the taxes of 1863. Payment is demanded in gold and silver coin. The county defends the suit.

A week ago last Sunday the wagon of Samuel McCullough was upset while crossing the middle fork of the Willamette, by a wheel coming off. As a melancholy consequence, Mrs. McCullough, her child and a Miss Bagly, aged about 13 years, were drowned. Mr. McCullough narrowly escaping. The bodies of the mother and child have been found.

A match race has been made up between Tolman's "Minie Rifle" and a horse brought across the plains last fall by Mr. Wylsh, to come off over the Bybee course near Jacksonville.

Newman, a butcher, at Salem, lately killed a prize ox, which had taken several premiums at our State Fairs. Its live weight was 2,100, net 1,300, and it cost the butcher $200, and made [illegible] good beef as we can testify from having been there to try it.

The people of Salem have forwarded lately for the Christian Commission, $577 12 in coin and $290 in currency. Also, to the Sanitary Commission, $675 in currency, and $379 80 in currency was forwarded April 6th: equivalent to over $1,000 in coin already forwarded in April.

Fortifications in Canada.—At Quebec and Montreal, very extensive fortifications are being built. The Canadians awhile ago [illegible] pursuade themselves that a war with this country would shortly occur, and accordingly went to work to put their provinces in a condition of defence. After a time, however, they [illegible] our Government would not be the aggressor and that it only required them to prevent combinations hostile to our people from being set on foot in the adjacent territory.

The reciprocity treaty in reference to trade with Canada, will shortly expire. The people of the provinces will then be deprived of a lucrative commerce which they have heretofore [illegible] with us. This deprivation will be [illegible] recompense for their duplicity. Had they dealt fairly with us from the first, intercourse with us would not now be hindered, and the [illegible] expenditures they are now making to strengthen the defences of their country, would have been [illegible].

[illegible] —A private letter from Frankfort, [illegible] says:

There [illegible] be a great demand for American securities [illegible] in the market as well as in Amsterdam. Lately everything was bought up which was offered. The Rothschilds were very large buyers. Whether for themselves or upon orders we do not know. The price is three per cent. higher than New York quotations, and that in gold. It must be comfortable for Secretary Fessenden to know that Uncle Sam's paper is worth three per cent. more here or about [illegible] in paper, above the price at home, and a good demand at that. It seems a pity that Fessenden could not sell some in this market as well as in New York, but it seems the law does not authorize it.

The Raiders.—The counsel for the St. Albans raiders, apparently dreading their extradition for robbery, have, in the evidence adduced to prove them belligerents, taken pains to show that our neutrality laws have been set at defiance by them and other refugees. All evidence tending to criminate C. C. Clay, Jr., was carefully kept back till he was safely out of the Provinces, and now he is made the scapegoat for the offenses of the young men in custody. Who represents the Confederate Government here now is not generally known. Sanders professes himself innocent of all warlike intentions. He is for peace, while his companions are for war. A few months ago he is reported to have said to De Sala that the Confederates would within three months commit deeds which would make European civilization shudder. The Alien Act has probably had the effect of taming down some of the refugees.—Montreal Witness Feb. 28.

What Next?

[illegible] of the London Times reflects [illegible] of the English government, we are [illegible] to regard [illegible] a war with England. The [illegible] is [illegible] unhappy, because the Union [illegible] States is likely to be preserved by [illegible] arms. [illegible] conceal its grief at the [illegible] or its spite at the [illegible] progress [illegible] continually, so [illegible] people [illegible] has [illegible] through, deeds of [illegible] to precipitate [illegible] is supposed to [illegible] by its [illegible] that such a result will not follow the conclusion of our civil war.

Every cruiser that has been fitted out to [illegible] on the seas, has gone forth upon its mission from English ports. If the ocean has [illegible] with the blazing wrecks of American [illegible] because the connivance of [illegible] the English, has aided [illegible] to destroy a rival commerce. We know that our Government has given that of England to understand that we hold it responsible for all the damage ensuing from a culpable neglect of the neutrality laws; that a strict account has been kept of the immense loss incurred, as a consequence of the [illegible] of these semi-English rovers of the seas, and we have reason to believe that the Government at Washington will demand an accounting from Great Britain for every act of loss, either of omission or commission, that has resulted in strewing the seas with the flaming ships of our merchant navy.

It is [illegible] that the Tory party of England [illegible] and it is to these demands made and to be made, that the Times referred when it questioned if England should wait for America to inaugurate a war, or take the initiatory step herself. These are the grounds most prominent, and [illegible] for future difficulty with England; but, with prudent statesmanship, and a fair disposition on either side, trouble may be avoided. The arbitration of some friendly and disinterested parties may be called upon to decide all the questions of rights or claims arising under international law.

It is stated that Napoleon has indeed received a deed of cession of the northern States of Mexico, and the authority for the statement is the Democratic Press, published in San Francisco, which is supposed to be posted in the movements of Gwin. The Press says Gwin is one of the Trustees of the ceded States to carry out the provisions of the trust on the part of France under appointment of Napoleon. In June he is expected to return and with the aid of Marshal Bazaine and a French force which is to accompany him, will proceed to "pacificate" this ceded territory. If such is the state of affairs [illegible] us on the South—if a French army is to be located on our border it is time to enquire, what next? for there is every probability of a war to demonstrate the principles of the Monroe doctrine and decide if Napoleon or Maximilian are to occupy American soil, and usurp the throne of Mexico. This matter no friendly arbitration can decide. It lays with our Government to solve for itself points involving National honor, and it should in view of these facts make suitable provision for the defence of the Pacific Coast.

Salem Correspondence.

Monday, April 17, 1865.

The all-absorbing thought here as elsewhere for several days past has been of the terrible intelligence brought us of the murder of President Lincoln. The effect upon every right-minded person has been visible in a subdued demeanor and a manifestation of sorrow almost universal, while no one dared to rejoice over an event that is a national bereavement.

THE FIRE LAST NIGHT.

You have heard of the fire that last evening destroyed the row of wooden buildings between the brick blocks built by Griswold and Holman; all the intervening buildings, covering a space of about one hundred and fifty feet front compactly filled in, were burnt and most of the contents utterly destroyed. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary, applied between two of the buildings. It spread rapidly, but was arrested by the fire-proof bricks, which stood the test admirably and stayed the progress of the flames. The fire illustrates the great necessity of fire engines and insurance offices, both of which were wanting in operation, and either of which might have saved much loss. I am inclined to think the Salem papers exaggerated the loss, placing the amount at $55,000; while I think that $25,000 would cover the loss. The loss comes heavily upon some very worthy persons, none of whom can well afford such a reduction of capital, though it is hoped that they will be able to continue business in other localities upon the street. [illegible] places the losses at the following amounts:

[illegible] & Wright, grocery store, $8,000; Mr. [illegible], $3,000; Mr. Miller, building, $1 [illegible], $1,000; Plamondon, building, $[illegible]; J. H. Starr, tin store, $[illegible]; [illegible] furniture and [illegible] shop, $1,000; Geo. Strang [illegible], Laura Mason, photograph gallery [illegible] [illegible] about $1,000. The total loss [illegible] from $55,000. No insurance on any [illegible].

[illegible] CONFESSION.

[illegible] excitement exists with regard to the [illegible] Beale and Baker of the [illegible] of the [illegible]. According to their statement [illegible] without [illegible] [illegible] Baker [illegible] [illegible] Beale [illegible] [illegible] Baker, who had been [illegible] under the influence of [illegible] Baker seized his gun and retreated [illegible] Baker shot both bar[illegible] at the old man and the other at the [illegible] [illegible] to have understood Beale [illegible] [illegible] Beale [illegible] Baker, What for? Beale replied [illegible] Baker said, [illegible] I told you not to [illegible] Baker [illegible] his mistake, got down upon knees and [illegible] like a child [illegible] Beale broke open a [illegible] in different places [illegible] Baker went up stairs [illegible] Beale did not go up stairs [illegible] They did not [illegible] The accidental [illegible] confessed them so that they [illegible] to make a search. The [illegible] will be made public here after. There were no other persons than Beale and Baker connected with the murder.

But the guilty persons wished to make a confession [illegible] upon the money of [illegible] were put in the way. They [illegible] The testimony of the witnesses [illegible] with one or two [illegible] and the testimony for the defense [illegible] The discrepancies between the statements of different witnesses will be fully explained in the confession [illegible] of preparation [illegible] except the justness of the [illegible] are ready and willing to meet [illegible] They have no personal [illegible] between [illegible] the gallows and being imprisoned for life [illegible] caused by the pleadings of their wives and children.

There are several different stories afloat, said to have come from the [illegible] to whom they are said [illegible] money they could carry, which was buried on the line of their way home. There is general belief that the confession, and [illegible] is [illegible] as to the truth of their statement of the amount of money taken. Baker seems to have been [illegible] by Beale to assist on the occasion by a promise of $500 in cash and [illegible] which is all he was to receive.

DATES TO APRIL 17.

Seward's Condition—Gold Going Down.

St. Louis, April 17.—[illegible] the death of Mr. Lincoln is [illegible]

The following private dispatch was communicated to us for publication [illegible]

[illegible], April 17.—[illegible] April 16. [illegible] Washington this morning. The Secretary is improving. [illegible]

Signed [illegible] JOHN [illegible] SEWARD.

Private dispatches say gold yesterday in New York was 149, closing at 146. Exchange 163.

Commercial Affairs.

New York, April 17.—The merchandise market is steady and prices are [illegible] on the basis of gold at [illegible]. It is now pretty evident that there will be no gold or [illegible] panic, but that the decline of gold and the return to specie payment will be gradual. [illegible] declined ten cents with a moderate demand. The wheat market is dull at $1 [illegible]. Pork is active and has advanced [illegible] cents on the [illegible] mess at $[illegible] cash; for prime $26 [illegible]. Wool improving. The supply [illegible] is abundant at six and eight per cent [illegible]. Foreign Exchange is quiet at [illegible]. The falling off of exports tend to sustain quotations. Government securities are firm and advancing.

Fire in New York.

New York, April 17.—Yesterday morning a fire broke out in the extensive cooperage of A. T. Briggs, Water street, which was destroyed together with four loaded warehouses and their contents, and a lumber yard owned by Messrs. [illegible]. The houses were owned by Wm. Briggs. Loss estimated at $1,000,000.

Number of Men Surrendered by Lee.

The [illegible] correspondent gives the details of the work of paroling the rebel prisoners. It appears that Lee surrendered about 26,000 including officers, privates and teamsters. The artillery numbers 170 pieces, and the wagons 700.

A Richmond correspondent says That Lee has gone to Danville to endeavor to prevail on Jefferson Davis to desist from further prolonging the hopeless struggle.

President Johnson's Policy.

Washington, April 16.—Gov. Stone, at the meeting of the citizens of Iowa last night, stated that he had just had a long conversation with President Johnson in regard to his policy as Chief Magistrate, in which the latter said that while he would deal kindly and leniently with the masses of the people South, and with the rank and file of their armies, nevertheless he would be careful not to pursue any policy which would prevent the Government from visiting punishment on the guilty causes of rebellion; and the President regarded it as due to the loyal people, and many thousands of brave men who had fallen in its defense during the struggle, that treason should still be regarded as the highest crime under the constitution and flag, and that treason should be rendered infamous for all time to come. While he entertained these views, he would at the same time endeavor to gain the confidence of the deserving and betrayed masses of the Southern people, regarding them as proper material for resurrecting insurgent States, and to restore them to their relation to the Government. He would neither recognize nor hold official communication with those who had usurped official station, or in any way acknowledge the sovereignty of the rebel Government.

Seward's Condition—Reward Offered for the Assassins.

Washington, April 17.—A deep interest is felt in Secretary Seward's condition. His residence is thronged with visitors, among them Cabinet and foreign Ministers. The Council have offered $20,000 for the arrest and conviction of the assassins. $10,000 is added by Col. Baker, of the War Department.

How the News of President Lincoln's Assassination was Received at Montreal.

Montreal, April 17.—On Saturday the flags on the Court House, Custom House and other public buildings were displayed at half-mast. In the churches yesterday the clergy in their prayers referred particularly to the assassination of the President, and expressed their detestation of the crime. A union prayer meeting of all the different denominations was held at the Wesleyan Chapel, which expressed sympathy with the people of the United States.

President Johnson's Remarks on Taking the Oath of Office.

Washington, April 16.—The following is a full report of President Johnson's remarks, on taking the oath of office yesterday:

Gentlemen: I must be permitted to say that I have been almost overwhelmed by the announcement of the sad event which has recently occurred. I feel incompetent to perform the duties so important and responsible as those which have been so unexpectedly thrown upon me. As to the indication of the only policy which may be pursued by me in the administration of the Government, I have to say that it must be left for development as the administration progresses, and a message or declaration must be made by acts as they transpire. The only assurance that I can now give of the future, is a reference to the past course which I have taken in connection with the rebellion. The past must be regarded as a guarantee of the future. My past public life, which has been long and laborious, has been founded, as I, in good conscience believe, upon the great principle of right which lies at the basis of all things. The best energies of my life have been spent in endeavoring to establish and perpetuate the principles of free government. I believe that the Government, in passing through its present perils, will settle down upon the principles consonant with popular rights more permanent and enduring than heretofore. I must be permitted to say, if I understand the feelings of my own heart, that I have labored to ameliorate the condition of the great mass of the American people, and in the honest advocacy of the great principles of free government. It has been my lot, and the duties have been mine [illegible] the consequences are God's. This has been the foundation of my political faith, and I feel that in the end the Government will triumph, and that the great principles will be permanently established.

In conclusion, let me say that I now [illegible] assistance and countenance [illegible] I shall rely upon you [illegible] in carrying the Government through its present perils. I trust that in making this request, it will be heartily responded to [illegible] and all other patriots and lovers of the rights and interests of a free people.

Branch Mint Rates.—As the Branch Mint at San Francisco opens from the 15th of March for the transaction of business, it may be of interest to our [illegible] readers to know the charges for melting and refining bullion deposits. We copy from the report of the Flag:

[illegible]

[illegible]

REFINING OR PARTING.

If the deposit contains base or refractory metals, a charge varying from [illegible] per gross ounce, independently of the regular separating charge.

COINAGE.

One half of one per cent. of the total value of the gold and silver contained in the deposit.

SILVER VALUE IN GOLD DEPOSITS.

The Mint pays at the rate of $1 21 per standard ounce (900 fine) for silver contained in the gold deposits, except where the deposit is 900 1000ths and over fine of gold, when no allowance is made for silver, and no separating charge made to the depositor.

SILVER REFINING [illegible]

The Mint purchases silver at the rate of $1 21 per standard ounce [illegible] and gives credit for all gold contained of [illegible] thousandths fine and over, payable in gold coin. The separating charges are the same as in gold deposits. If there be less than 1 [illegible] fine of gold, no allowance is made to the depositor for it.

A toughening or refining charge is added on silver, where it contains from 11 to 40 thousandths, inclusive of base metal, of 1 cent per gross ounce—51 to 250 inclusive, 1½ cent; 251 to 400, 1¼ cent—401 and over, 2 cents; when very brittle and base, 3 cents per gross ounce.

If the silver contains 1½ thousandths fine and over of gold, independent of the separating charge a coinage charge is added of ¼ of one per cent on the value of the gold so contained.

If the deposit contains no gold, there is no separating or coining charge made.

FINE SILVER BARS.

If silver is deposited for fine silver bars, and contains gold 1½ thousandths and over, a separating charge is made, the same as before stated, and the coinage charge of the ½ of one per cent. on the value of the gold contained; also, the regular toughening charge, and the bar-making charge of ½ cent per fine ounce (1000) fine of the silver contained in the deposit. The silver contained in a fine bar is calculated at $1 16 [illegible] per standard, (or 900 fine.)

The Mint value of gold in deposits, at standard fineness, (900 fine) is 43 ounces, worth $800.

General Grant in 1859.—The following advertisement from a copy of the Weekly Telegraph, a small advertising sheet, published in St. Louis, by William R. Stose, under date of March 12th, 1859, will bear being republished. The rapid advancement of one member of the firm of "Boggs & Grant" is too patent to everybody to need further mention:

CELEBRATION

BY THE

INDEPENDENT ORDER OF

ODD FELLOWS!

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26TH, 1865.

BY AUTHORITY GRANTED BY THE M. W. GRAND Master of the Grand Lodge of Oregon, and the M. W. Grand Patriarch of the Grand Encampment of California, the members of Samaritan Lodge and Ellison Encampment of this city, in conjunction with the members of contiguous Lodges and Encampments in this jurisdiction, propose to have a Celebration in this city on the 26th instant, in commemoration of the 46th Anniversary of Odd Fellowship in the United States.

The principal features in the proposed Celebration will be a public procession of members of the Order, in full regalia, led by music, from their Hall through the principal streets of the city to the M. E. Church, where an Address will be delivered, and other appropriate ceremonies take place, upon the conclusion of which the procession will proceed to the upper story of the Oregon Steam Navigation Company's Warehouse, which will be appropriately fitted up and decorated, where a dinner will be served, and other appropriate festivities will terminate the exercises of the day.

All members of the Order in good standing, are respectfully invited to co-operate with us on that occasion, and those desiring to do so are requested to report themselves to the Committee of Arrangements.

New York Gold Quotations .... [illegible]

THE FUNERAL [illegible].—A [illegible] number of the citizens of Portland met at the Council [illegible] last evening, pursuant to [illegible] purpose of appointing a committee to [illegible] on the part of the Council, to [illegible] proceedings [illegible] the proper ceremonies in this city [illegible] for the observance of the funeral [illegible] of the late President Lincoln. Mayor [illegible] was called to the Chair, and [illegible] Secretary. Col. C. H. Larrabee moved the [illegible] committee of three, from the [illegible] amended as to consist of six, and [illegible] appointed by the Chairman: [illegible] McCormick, A. B. Hallock, [illegible] smith, Dr. W. H. Watkins. [illegible] to the committee [illegible] W. W. Baker, W. F. [illegible] R. H. Bennett. On motion, the meeting adjourned.

OIL EXCITEMENT.—We have [illegible] Athens county, Ohio, [illegible] wells in that region, some [illegible] referred to as belonging to different [illegible]. We were also permitted to copy the following from a letter [illegible] from our fellow citizen, Thomas Carter, written [illegible] on the 20th of February, which shows [illegible] state of excitement and speculations in oil [illegible]. Mr. Carter writes: "It is remarkable [illegible] excitement is now raging in the State [illegible] the new oil discoveries. Capitalists from New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, and from Europe [illegible] are investing extensively in the oil interests. A company [illegible] those [illegible] men paid for one farm upon which [illegible] oil well was found, $3,500, which after [illegible] and five more wells upon it, sold for [illegible]. Another farm was purchased for [illegible] sold for $15,000. One well sold for [illegible]. Carter was offered for his farm [illegible] under a $100,000. Gen. Carter was offered [illegible] three hundred acres of oil land. [illegible] Athens county, Ohio. The excitement on the Pacific in relation to new gold fields, is no comparison to that created by the recent discovery and speculation in oil. It has been found extensively in six counties in Ohio, and doubtless extends all over the great coal region, one hundred miles along the Ohio River, spreading into Virginia and Pennsylvania. The oil is being shipped to Europe in large quantities. Refining [illegible] revenue to the country."

MAY THEY LIVE LONG AND HAPPILY TOGETHER!—Marriage, the divine rite, instituted by the Creator for promoting domestic felicity, the civil and religious contract by which parties engage to live together in mutual [illegible] and fidelity until death shall separate them, was performed at the Presbyterian Church last evening in the presence of a number of the friends and relatives of the bride and bride-groom. We were notified of what was to transpire in order that we might witness the important step of our bachelor friend as he cast aside the robes of single blessedness, but we were not permitted to visit the scene. A notice, however, which appears in the proper place, and the handsome marriage favors extended to the toiling Printers at the case, warns our Front street agent of the Florence that "J. B." is no more of that bachelor clique. One by one they are dropping into line, and are being numbered with the domestic circle. We congratulate friend Wyatt upon his happy ascension, and welcome him to "our" ranks, having served through two years of the Infantry corpse, without a repulse, we wish him the same happy result. May they live long and happily together is the profound wish of [illegible].

A MATCH FACTORY.—It is not generally known that this city supports an institution for the manufacture of its own supply of phosphorus and nitre tipped [illegible] known as friction matches, yet such is the case, as we see by a label on a batch before us. The maker of these handy contrivances for public use, like the [illegible] of the fourth century, has separated himself from the orthodox of our day, the manufacturers of San Francisco, our proud sister, and set up for himself on a small scale in the land of Webfeet, and is determined as [illegible] is marked by progression, to measure lengths with the Frisco workers, in the strife to retain the home trade. We hope he may be successful, and if he makes a good article he will be.

BUSINESS SUSPENDED.—In accordance with the dispatch [illegible] yesterday morning, announcing that the funeral of President Lincoln would take place in Washington city at noon, all business was suspended, the stores and shops closed, and many buildings draped in the [illegible] of mourning. All the religious denominations of the city met at their places of worship at the same hour [illegible] for the rites in Washington, and solemnized the [illegible] by appropriate ceremonies.

THE [illegible] NIGHT.—To-night the first entertainment of the glass blowers will be given at Turn Verein Hall in this city. After two more evenings they will visit the Dalles and other portions of the upper country. The living skeleton and one-armed violinist, formerly attaches of Gilbert's Museum in San Francisco, accompany them. They have just now returned from a very successful tour to the Islands.

BRICK YARDS.—We learn from reliable reasons and [illegible] in this city, that there is a lack of factories for the manufacture of brick here. It is asserted that three new yards could find profitable work for the present season. Almost the entire amount of brick that can be made near Portland with the number of men employed now, are contracted for, and will be taken from the kiln as soon as cold. Will not some enterprising parties accept of this opportunity to engage in a lucrative business.

FIREMEN STATISTICS.—The number of firemen in San Francisco, according to the semi-annual report of the [illegible], on April 1st, 1865, was 826. The last report of the Portland Department showed that we have 258 active, and 27 exempt firemen. The population of Portland is 6,000; that of San Francisco 112,000, showing a greater percent of firemen in this city.

JARGON.—Lest we may forget the type of speech in early days, Mr. S. J. McCormick has recently issued a new dictionary of the Jargon, commonly known as the Chinook Jargon, and copies may be obtained at the Franklin Book Store. It was printed at the Farmer Job Office.

FRUIT FROM THE TROPICS.—Capt. Brooks, of the bark [illegible], has a variety of tropical fruit, including lemons, oranges, cocoa nuts, etc., on his vessel now laying at [illegible] wharf. Watermelons are also among the variety of products from the Islands, to be found on board of his bark. The taste of such fruit at this time is a rare treat [illegible].

[illegible] MEETING.—We are requested by Col. Jno. McCraken and Col. C. H. Larrabee, Chairmen of the [illegible] appointed to arrange for the observance of the funeral rites of the lamented President, to give notice that the [illegible] of the same are requested to meet at the Council Chamber to-day at 10½ o'clock A. M.

AUCTION SALE.—Mr. A. B. Richardson's regular sale [illegible] was postponed until to-day at 10 A. M., when a variety of goods, furniture, &c., will be offered at the corner of Oak and Front streets.

[illegible] GOLD AND SILVER TUNNEL CO.—The above Company has been incorporated with a Capital Stock of $200,000, divided into 400 shares of $500 each. The Incorporators are H. W. Corbett, S. G. Reed and T. J. Carter. A meeting of the Stockholders was held at the office of E. W. Tracy & Co., April 8th, and the following Trustees elected: H. W. Corbett, President; J. W. Ladd, Vice President; E. W. Tracy, Secretary; S. G. Reed, Wm. Davidson. The object of the Company is the Tunneling of Oro Fino mountain, striking blind ledges, and the conveying of ore through the Tunnel for such [illegible] who have ledges already open as they may be able to contract with. A gentleman of great practical experience in quartz mining, writing from Owyhee, says: "This is the best Tunnel right in Owyhee," and as Tunneling, where it can be done, is the best and most economical method of quartz mining, this enterprise must eventuate in great benefit to the quartz interests, as well as pay a handsome profit to those engaged in it. There is a perfect net-work of ledges cropping out on the mountain, commencing almost at the very starting point of the Tunnel. It is said there are over one hundred ledges now open on the Oro Fino mountain. The parties engaged in the undertaking are known as men of enterprise, and nearly all of them can individually command heavy capital. It is very gratifying to learn that the Owyhee mining district is already attracting the attention of capitalists, and it is also gratifying that nearly all if not all the claims yet discovered have paid well from the commencement, and yielded a good return for money invested, wherever they have been worked with any degree of economy or practical sense.

THE PUBLIC DEBT.—In a letter by Mr. Fessenden to Mr. Prince, member of the Committee on Ways and Means, the following official statement of the public debt is given:

Aggregate debt bearing interest in coin $1,057,356,438 80; interest, $63,133,151 14. Debt bearing interest in lawful money, $805,870,952 11; interest, $29,698,770 41. Debt on which interest has ceased, $355,570 09. Legal tender debt bearing no interest, $433,160,569. Fractional currency, $24,098,913 93. Total, $2,153,735,114 47; interest, $93,131,921 86. Amount of unpaid requisitions, $136,190,000. Amount in the Treasury, $10,252,668 16. Total, $125,817,011 84. The amount of suspended requisitions abroad includes all paid requisitions for every branch of the public service. It is stated at the Department that at this date, February 13th, this amount has been reduced about nine millions of dollars, and that the Department intends next week to commence paying the Army of the Potomac.

TO MINERS.—Mr. Foster and party, with an assayer from San Francisco, left here on Saturday last for the White River Mine. It is their intention to tap the Foster lead forty feet below the surface, and test the ore on the spot. As the assayer will remain on the ground some time it will afford claim-holders an opportunity to have their several claims thoroughly tested without going to Victoria or San Francisco, which will be a great saving to them.—Seattle Gazette.

Brandreth's Vegetable Pills.—This medicine, of enduring efficacy, is justly prized as a corrector of all disorders of the stomach and bowels, the common symptoms of which are costiveness, spasms, loss of appetite, sick headache, giddiness, sense of bloating after meals, dizziness of the eyes, drowsiness and cramping in the stomach and bowels. These symptoms being suffered to remain, a torpid state of the liver supervenes, and all the horrors of dyspepsia are experienced. Every function of the frame is to a certain extent prostrated, but a little perseverance in the use of BRANDRETH'S PILLS will even restore the system from this state of misery. Two or three doses will convince the afflicted of their salutary influence. The stomach will readily regain its strength, a healthy action of the liver will soon take place, and instead of listlessness, heat, pain and jaundiced appearance, activity, strength and renewed health will be the blessed result. Brandreth's Pills are sold at 25 cents a box, enveloped in full directions. Purchase none unless my private Government stamp is on the box. See upon it "B. Brandreth" in white letters.

BY VIRTUE of an execution issued out of the Circuit Court, of the State of Oregon, for the county of Multnomah, and to me directed, upon a decree by said Court rendered in a suit for foreclosure of a mechanic's lien, wherein [illegible] and Stimpson are plaintiffs, and J. M. Geo. Kailich defendant, and wherein A. M. Starr and [illegible] Davenport intervened for their interest, and in which suit judgment and decree was rendered in favor of said plaintiffs and against said defendant, J. M. George Kailich, for the sum of $826 40 and for costs and disbursements in the sum of $36 25, and the same was determined and adjudged by said Court to be a valid lien upon the following described property, and that the claims of said Starr, Davenport and Hopking, were void so far as plaintiff's claim is concerned.

I will expose to public sale at auction, at the Court House door, on Friday, the 21st day of April, A. D. 1865, between the hours of 10 o'clock A. M., and 4 o'clock P. M., the following described property, to satisfy said Lien: An one house upon the east corner of lot eight [illegible] in block number five [illegible] in the city Portland, Multnomah county, Oregon, and all the interest which the said J. HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED
STOMACH BITTERS.

THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE REMEDY upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is [illegible] soothing and conservative. It regulates, re[illegible] and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its [illegible] and invigorating properties.

Invigorate the System.
Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutritious [illegible] and nutritious blood a healthy frame. Does the victim of a dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters
Will accomplish this desirable result by an [illegible] system, regulating the secretions and excretions [illegible] the animal [illegible] fixed nerve, muscle and fibre, and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System.
The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame and shattered constitution, which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.
Debility, from whatever cause arising, may be cured [illegible] strength, in whatever manner it may have been wasted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthy invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.

A Word to the Aged!
In the decline of life, the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by a reviving preparation which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.
As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It relieves the stomach, improves the appetite, and acts like a charm upon the spirits.

For Females!
Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, [illegible] of debility, and all peculiar disturbances and circumstances to which, as a sex, they are subject. WISTAR'S BALSAM
WILD CHERRY!
HAS BEEN USED FOR NEARLY HALF A CENTURY,
WITH THE MOST ASTONISHING SUCCESS IN CURING
Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Croup, Liver Complaint, Bronchitis, Difficulty of Breathing, Asthma, and every affection of the
THROAT, LUNGS AND CHEST, INCLUDING EVEN CONSUMPTION.

There is scarcely one individual in the community who wholly escapes, during a season, from some one, however slightly developed, of the above symptoms—a neglect of which might lead to the last named, and most to be dreaded disease in the whole catalogue. The power of "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree over this class of complaints is well known; so great is the good it has performed, and so great the popularity it has acquired.

In this preparation, besides the virtues of the Cherry, there are commingled with it other ingredients of like value, thus increasing its value ten fold, and forming a Remedy whose power to soothe, to heal, to relieve, and to cure disease, exists in no other medicine yet discovered.

The unequalled success that has attended the application of this medicine in all cases of

has induced many physicians of high standing to employ it in their practice, some of whom advise us of the fact under their own signatures. We have space only for the names of a few of these.—

The proprietors have letters from all classes of our fellow citizens, from the halls of Congress to the humblest cottage, and even from beyond the seas; for the fame and virtue of WISTAR'S BALSAM have extended to the uttermost bounds of the earth, without any attempt on our part to introduce it beyond the limits of our own country.

TO CALIFORNIANS AND OREGONIANS:
After October 1, 1865, all genuine WISTAR'S BALSAM of WILD CHERRY for the Pacific Coast will be put up in a new wrapper which will bear the printed names of both SETH W. Cure Your Cold, Save Your Lungs.
NEWELL'S
PULMONARY SYRUP
HAS CURED THOUSANDS!
And it will Cure You!

"A Cough is generally the effect of a Cold, which has either been improperly treated or entirely neglected. When it proves obstinate there is Always reason to fear the consequences,
as this shows a weak state of the lungs, and is often the forerunner of Consumption."—Buchanan's Domestic Medicine.

STOP THAT COUGHING!
Some of you can't, and we pity you. You have tried every remedy but the one destined, by its intrinsic merit, to supersede all similar preparations. It is not surprising you should be reluctant to try something else after the many experiments you have made of trashy compounds foisted on the public as a certain cure; but

NEWELL'S
Pulmonary Syrup!
Is really the VERY BEST remedy ever compounded for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Consumption. Thousands of people in California and Oregon have been already benefited by its surprising curative powers.

WHAT KILLED HIM!
Dr. Hall, in his "Journal of Health," speaking of the death of Washington Irving, asks the above question, and adds: "He might have remained with us for some years to come, had it not been for advice, kindly intended, no doubt, but given in thoughtlessness and reckless ignorance.

He Had a Cold
Which, by some injudicious prescription, had been converted into asthma." Let me say to Dr. Hall that that "prescription" was not

NEWELL'S PULMONARY SYRUP.
KEEP IT IN THE HOUSE, use it freely, give it to your children upon the slightest indications of a Cold, and you will think and speak of it as all do who have become acquainted with its merits.

Our Oldest Friend.

READ TO THE "BOYS OF '29," JAN. 5, 1865.

I give you the health of the oldest friend
That, short of eternity, earth can lend,—
A friend so faithful and tried and true
That nothing can wean him from me and you.

When first we screeched in the sudden blaze
Of the daylight's blinding and blasting rays,
And gulped at the gross, unfiltered air,
This old, old friend stood waiting there.

And when, with a kind of mortal strife,
We had gasped and choked into breathing life,
He watched by the cradle, day and night,
And held our hands till we stood upright.

From gristle and pulp our frames have grown
To stringy muscle and solid bone;
While we were changing, he altered not;
We might forget, but he never forgot.

He came with us to the college class,—
Little cared he for the steward's pass!
All the rest must pay their fee,
But the grim old dead-head entered free.

He stayed with us while we counted o'er
Four times each of the seasons four;
And with every season, from year to year,
The dear name Classmate he made more dear.

He never leaves us,—he never will,
Till our hands are cold and our hearts are still;
On birthdays, and Christmas, and New-Year's too,
He always remembers both me and you.

Every year this faithful friend
His little present is sure to send;
Every year, wheresoe'er we be,
He wants a keepsake from you and me.

How he loves us! he pats our heads,
And lo! they are gleaming with silver threads;
And he's always begging one lock of hair,
Till our shining crowns have nothing to wear.

At length he will tell us, one by one,
"My child, your labor on earth is done;
And now you must journey afar to see
My elder brother—Eternity!"

And so, when long, long years have passed,
Some dear old fellow will be the last—
Never a boy alive but he
Of all our goodly company!

When he lies down, but not till then,
Our kind Class-angel will drop the pen
That writes in the day-book kept above
Our life-long record of faith and love.

So here's a health in homely rhyme
To our oldest classmate, Father Time!
May our last survivor live to be
As bald, but as wise and tough as he!

—Atlantic Monthly for March.

From Red Bluff to Yreka, and How I Passed the Night There.

(Concluded.)

I fancy I hear some kind-hearted reader exclaim, poor fellow how he must have enjoyed the night's rest. No, the fates were against me. Alas, how fleeting are the hopes and inclinations of frail humanity! I suddenly awoke, with an indistinct idea that I was at a ball, with a jiggy kind of tune whirling through my brain. "Pish! I must have been dreaming; so I turned over and tucked the blankets more tightly around my shoulders, vexed that such a stupid dream should have awoke me. Hark! what on earth is that? "Ladies and gents, take your places, salute your partners" then crash went two fiddles, crowding out a break down. Again the voice—"hall right and left" and off they went. The sound of countless feet, shuffling rapidly over the floor, told me in language not to be mistaken, that a ball was going briskly on very near my head.

I sat up, rubbed my eyes, took a long mournful yawn, and began to consider what had best be done. I discovered that a thin wooden partition only intervened betwixt my head and the ball-room; everything rattled to the jigging tune of the music and the dancers, the windows, the doors, the wash crockery, the bed, all jigged, and I began to find myself involuntarily nodding to the same measure, and jigging mentally like the rest. Shades of the departed! I could not stand this—good-bye bed, and feathers, and sleep. I may as well dance in reality as in imagination; and abandoning all my anticipated delights, dressed and entered the ball-room.

It was a long room, lit with candles hung along the wall in tin sconces; the company—if variety is really charming—was perfect; the customers, as a rule, were more suggestive of ease than elegance; scarlet shirts and buckskin I must say it, ladies,) "pants" was in the ascendant. The boots, as a rule, being of the species known as Wellingtons were worn out-side of the trousers, inducing the latter indispensables to assume a bunchiness about the knees, not calculated to display the symmetry of the leg to advantage; very few had any jackets on, but all, without exception, wore a bowie-knife and six-shooter in their waist belts. The ladies' costumes were equally varied, most of them wore bright-colored muslins of very large patterns, and showy waist-ribbons, tied behind in large bows, with streamers down to their heels. The dance was just "down," when I came into the room. I saw a few citizens I had met in the day, but each one seemed to have his "fancy gal," and any chance of getting an introduction was a vain hope. The fashion, I discovered after, is either to bring or meet your partner at the ball room, and dance with her, and her only, all the evening. A waltz was called, and I wanted a partner. Looking round, I spied out a lady sitting near the end of the room, who evidently had not got one. She was in the same place when I entered the room, and it was clear to me by her unrumpled appearance, that she had not danced for the evening. "Faint heart never won fair lady," might, I imagined, apply as forcibly to dancing, as to wooing or fighting; if I am snubbed, it won't be all the world, and I suppose I shall live it down—so here goes. Walking boldly up to her, I asked coolly, but rather apologetically, if she would try a waltz—

"Guess, stranger, I ain't fix'd up for waltzing."

"Perhaps, madam," I said "you will excuse me, although unknown to you, if I ask you to dance the next cotillon with me."

Looking into my face with an expression half doubt, half delight, she said,

"Stranger, I'll have the tallest kind of pleasure in putting you right slick through a cotillon, for I've sot, and sot, and sot here, like a blue chicken on a pine log, till I was like to grow'd to the seat." This satisfactorily arranged, I sat down by her side until the waltz finished, to have a good look at and trot out my new inamorita. She was a blonde beauty, with fair hair and light gray eyes that flashed and twinkled roguishly. She was robed in some white material, with blue ribbons in her hair and round her waist; a mountain sylph, that any wanderer in want of a partner would have deemed himself lucky to have stumbled on. Our conversation was rather discursive, until I discovered that home politics, or rather the duties and requirements of a gal at hum, was a never failing spring from which to draw fresh draughts of household knowledge. At last the cotillon was called by the M. C., and again I heard "take your places, salute your partners;" the fiddles started the same kind of jigging tune and away they went.

Now allow me to enlighten the uninitiated in the mysteries of a cotillon: it's a compound, complicated kind of dance, evidently constructed from the elements and fragments of many other dances—a good deal of quadrille, a strong taste of lancers, a flavor of polka and waltz; the whole highly seasoned with Indian war-dance. You never stand still, neither can you lounge and talk sweet nothings to your partner. No, it's real hoon jolly downright honest dancing. I soon discovered why the men had left off their jackets; a trained runner could not have stood it in clothing. My jacket and waistcoat were soon hung on a peg, and, red-shirted like the rest, I footed it out gallantly. My partner was a gem, with the endurance of a ballet girl in pantomime time. How many cotillons we got through, I never clearly remembered; but we danced on till the gray morning light, stealing in through the windows, warned the revellers that Old Sol was near at hand once more. My fair partner positively refused to allow me to see her home. Being a casual acquaintance and not a lover, I supposed, of course, that it was highly proper on her part. I thanked her sincerely, for I felt grateful to her for enabling me to dance away a night that I had destined for a long, luxurious repose. With a hearty good night, we parted never to meet again.

It was a glorious morning—the air cool and fresh, the sky unflecked by a single cloud. The sun was just tipping the hill-tops with rosy light, and peeping slily into the valleys, as I wandered out to think over my strange adventure. My way led by chance up the back street, and out by a little stream to the gold washings. Early as it was, all was bustle and activity. Many of my friends of the ball were now wresting the yellow ore from its hiding places, the anticipation of gold dispelling all sense of fatigue. (The want of water is a great drawback to these diggings. So valuable is it, that is has been brought by a small canal a distance of thirty miles, and is rented by the miners at so much a cubic foot.)

I lingered here some time, for there is much to see, then turned my steps towards my inn, through the city.

"Say—Cap'en—here—hold on!"

I turned and saw a man in a one-horse dray, whipping up his horse, and violently gesticulating for me to stop. He soon came up, and jumping out of the dray, seized my hand, and shook it with a grip that made my very eyes water.

"Guess you ain't acquainted with this child?"

I said no. I had not the pleasure of knowing him.

"I spotted you Cap'en, just as soon as ever I seed you making tracks down the street. My gal Car'line told me how she put you through all the dances last night!"

It suddenly flashed upon me that the drayman was my partner's papa. Here's a lively go! If he desired to ask me questions, and riddle me with [illegible] at once. [illegible] that I found his daughter a [illegible]

"[illegible] sich Cap'en; She's all wal lightning and would stand. Can't skeer up a [illegible] in these parts, if you [illegible] Sh! Why she's worth [illegible] as gets her."

[illegible] I thought it was coming. "[illegible]," I said, "my breakfast is waiting [illegible] we shall meet again."

[illegible]

[illegible] the nearest bar-room, and took an eye opener, and I escaped from the drayman. I drew a deep breath, and felt as if I had [illegible] a grizzly bear, more [illegible] got bled up a tasty [illegible] my goods, and with my [illegible] my camp.

[illegible] I gazed anxiously over the [illegible] should see the drayman, his [illegible] a priest in hot pursuit, and the [illegible] Shasta plains, an Indian for a witness, [illegible] nolens volens" linked to my [illegible] a life's cotillon.

Such was my first, and such was my last, my first night in Yreka. All's well that ends well; and I trust the fair Caroline has as pleasant a remembrance of the Cap'en as he has of her.

I found my camp all right, saddled up and set off on my perilous journey through the wilds of Oregon.—Adventures in America by an Englishman.

A REMARKABLE BLACKBIRD.—Here is a story of a blackbird. If you don't believe it call at our office and get the proof.

"In the town of S——, Somerset county, there was a blackbird which was the delight and amusement of the village. He appeared suddenly one day in the street and immediately attached himself to a colony of chickens. He fed with the chickens and seemed to partake largely of their taste and habits. There was a large rooster in the flock that became his friend and protector.

On pleasant nights he always perched himself on the rooster's back, but if the weather was wet or frosty he crept under his wing. The rooster seemed proud of his charge, and always conducted himself like a benevolent old bachelor that was bringing up an 'orphan.' The bird showed the greatest affection for his guardian.

By and by he learned to imitate the haughty airs of the chanticleer, and would strut and flap his wings to the great admiration of the younger pullets.

But the most remarkable part of the whole story is, that he actually learned to crow. The rooster gave him lessons every morning, and he was so apt a scholar that in a short time he began to rival his preceptor. It was a pleasant sight to see master and pupil sitting on the fence, on a sunshiny morning, going through the rehersal, in a style that would have done credit to an Italian opera.

We know not what become of this singular bird; whether he gave up his domestic tastes and once more became a bird of the wildwood—whether some malicious boy threw a stone, and sent him the way of all birds, or whether he still crows, and flaps his wings, and struts among the pullets; but we do know that all we have related of him is true.—Skippensburg Sentinel.

Cut the following and paste it in your scrap book. It is worth a year's subscription to any reader of this paper. The leaves of the elder if strewed among corn or other grain when it is put into the bin will effectually preserve it from the ravages of the weevil. The juice will also kill bedbugs and maggots. Insects never touch elder bushes. The leaves if scattered over cabbages, cucumbers, squashes, and other plants subject to the ravages of insects, effectually shield them. The plum and other fruits may be saved by placing it on the branches of the trees.

THE WORLD RENOWNED

SINGER SEWING MACHINES!

MANUFACTORY

182, 184, 186, 188, 190 and 192 Mott street, New York

MOTTO—"The Singer Sewing Machines are the only Machines that can Sew all kinds of Cloth and with all kinds of thread."

Singer's Letter "A" Family Machine is the best and cheapest Machine in the world for Family sewing. There is no doubt as to the value of our Machines for manufacturing purposes, but it is only of late that the public begin to learn that the essential elements of a Machine best adapted to the heaviest work would also be the elements to be embodied in a Family Machine.

We would ask for our Letter A Machines the attention of Vest Makers and Dress Makers, and all those who want Machines for Light Manufacturing Purposes. They embody the principles of the Manufacturing Machines, making, like them, the interlocked stitch and are destined to be as celebrated for FAMILY SEWING and Light Manufacturing purposes, as our Manufacturing Machines are for manufacturing purposes in general.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINES are valuable in proportion to the number of things they can do well. See what ours can do before making a purchase.

All persons requiring information about Sewing Machines, their sizes, prices, working capacities, and the best method of purchasing, can obtain it by sending for a copy of the SINGER MANUFACTURING COMPANY'S ILLUSTRATED PAMPHLET, which is entirely devoted to the subject. IT WILL BE SENT GRATIS.

GLOUCESTER, March 26, 1864.

Messrs. TILTON & McFARLAND,

Safe Manufacturers, Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen: From representations made by Mr. Lillie, I was induced to purchase of him one of his

So Called "Fire Proof Safes."

On the 18th of February last, a fire occurred in our block which destroyed a number of buildings, and our own with the rest. We trusted our books, papers and all in the safe. After the fire the so-called safe was taken from the ruins, and on opening it we found that Everything had been Destroyed.

We send you the safe, with what is left of the papers, and you will see that not one of them is legible or strong enough to sustain its own weight. Having the curiosity to know how our neighbors fared in this fire, we noticed McKenzie & Hardy just opening their safe (TILTON & McFARLAND'S make), and its contents were found to be

In Perfect Condition.

This led us to further investigation, and we found to our astonishment that from the large amount of combustible material in Messrs. McK. & H.'s cellar—such as lard, pork, etc., their safe was subjected to a much greater heat than that of our own, we being in the clothing business and had but little in the cellar. There was another of Lillie's safes here subjected to the same fire faring, however, no better than ours.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servants,

(Signed:) GEO. L. CHESBORO & CO.

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS,

Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,

GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATtended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact, it stands unrivaled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above-mentioned, and also—

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY,
LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every disease any way connected with the disorder or decay of the PROCREATIVE FUNCTIONS. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once rebraced, revivified and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER,

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step; his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom of an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active; and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor.—The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER,
INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, AND
CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING, OR PAINFUL
URINATING,
CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT, AND MUCOUS
OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in these cases, and you will ever give praise to

CONSTITUTION WATER.

ALLEN'S

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts, gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.
